Good Judgment After Eating

Giving the Stomach the Alkaline Effect by a Stuart's Dipsygen Tablette is Worth Remembering

You cannot as a rule, say in advance that this or that other food will cause indigestion. Experience has taught most people that even minute piles singly at times while at others a glass of milk raises holes with the stomach.

The time good rule to follow is the preventive measure of taking one or two Stuart's Dipsygen Tablets after meals. You thus avoid giving your stomach such distresses due to indigestion or dyspepsia. These tablets also help to digest the food by giving the stomach the alkaline effect. Get a few now and take them when the minute pile or milk should be more than a match for your digestive powers. Get a 10 cent box of Stuart's Dipsygen Tablets at any drug store and note how quickly they seem to calm the stomach when it's all upset—now.

Stop and Figure It Out

It takes half a day to make a purchase in the loop and get back to your starting point. If accompanied by friends, your car fare will run close to a dollar. You'll be so exhausted from pushing your way through the crowds that you will need refreshments—another dollar ruined. If you get a seat on the elevated, either way, you will be truly fortunate. An error in delivery means another weary ride downtown, and if you ask for credit, well you are simply a long way from home. Your local dealer is the man you want to see; he's the fellow who is there when a lift means the world to you. We have eight big stores and there is one of them near you—drop in, look us over and you will never risk your life in the loop again.

Eye Specialist and Medical Author Report
On Wonderful Remedy To Strengthen Eyesight.

Say It Strengthens Eyesight 50% in One Week's Time in Many Instances

New York—Dr. Smith, a well known eye specialist, and Dr. Jenkins, a New England physician and my friend, have made a thorough test of a popular remedy for the eyes.

Says Dr. Smith: "When my strength was failing, I used it. I was inclined to be skeptical. But it is a rule of thumb to give every new treatment a chance to prove its value. Having specialized in eye diseases too numerous to mention in this report, a new and striking case presented itself. A poor-looking young girl, 12 years old, came to me for treatment. I examined her eyes and found them absolutely normal and her eyes are as bright as many a girl of 16."

Dr. Jenkins, Massachusetts physician and my friend, made a similar examination in the Children's Hospital, Boston, Mass., and formerly house surgeon at the New England Eye and Ear Infirmary in Faneuil Hall, Mass., says:

"I have found Bon-Ops too prone to operate and anti-chlorine too willing to prescribe glasses, while neglecting the positive formula which forms the basis of Bon-Ops, which in my opinion is a remarkable remedy for the eyes and prevention of many eye disorders.

I am a strong advocate of Bon-Ops.

Two prominent eye specialists after a thorough examination, decided, according to their father, in order to save the sight of their children, that the eyes must be removed. While awaiting an opportunity for the operation and still undecided as to the use of Bon-Ops, not only as a remedy, but also as a physical exercise, I was given a bottle of Bon-Ops to use. In less than three days marked improvement was noticed. At the end of a week the inflammation had almost disappeared and the eyes could see again. I was pleased to find that the eyes were better than ever before. I said, "Just think what the saying of 'Not even because the door is open for the cure of many eye troubles which have before been difficult to cope with. I have had many cases of conjunctivitis and extreme inflammation of the lids and the conjunctive was almost raw. After two weeks use of Bon-Ops, the lids were absolutely normal and her eyes are as bright as many a girl of 16."
